Kathy Meneeley Klinge Anniversary 11/12/88

Dear Kathy,

We have been taught that Heaven is so beautiful
So here are on earth we try to picture it that way

I picture you as a newborn
I picture your first day of school
I picture you as a girl scout
I picture you as a ballerina
I picture you driving your first car
I picture you on your wedding day

Although it is very hard for me as your mother
To picture my baby girl as to where you are

It has been 33 years since that wedding day

So now I am trying to picture you as pretty as a picture up in Heaven on your anniversary day.

*Happy Anniversary Sweetheart
From Mom and Family*

Gratitude is a Choice

By Kathleen McFall

None of us will ever forget the events of these past months. No one could have predicted that our lives would be changed in such a profound way. We have all had to adapt, and it has not been easy.

We are advised repeatedly that, on a physical level, the best way to protect ourselves against the COVID-19 virus is to get vaccinated, mask up and practice social distancing.

But how do we protect ourselves from the unseen effects of this life-altering pandemic? COVID-19 has turned our world upside down. We've collectively experienced fear, anxiety and sadness.

Yet, despite these trying times, we can find reasons to be thankful. And we should. Gratitude is a core aspect of resiliency and helpful in times of crisis.

Being thankful has a positive impact on our mental and physical health. What better time than this season, when we set aside an entire day, Thanksgiving Day, solely for the purpose of taking stock of our blessings.

Thanksgiving, often the busiest travel time of the year, represents the American tradition of food, family and friends gathering together. The holiday is rich in legend and symbolism. The traditional fare of the Thanksgiving meal typically includes turkey, stuffing, cranberries and pumpkin pie, as well as watching parades and football games.

Yet, this time of year can seem somewhat contradictory. On one hand, November and December are among the darkest months on the calendar. The days grow shorter and the nights grow longer. The weather can be gloomy, cold and gray in many parts of the country. On the other hand, these two months also encompass the most festive season, a time of glowing lights, beautiful music, and joyous celebration.

November and December offer us unique opportunities to pause and reflect on things that are important to us.

We need to observe and acknowledge the beauty that we encounter in our daily lives by paying attention to the small things that can still bring us joy.

It is important to open our hearts to the gifts that surround us. There is wonder in our everyday world - in the shape of a leaf, the design of a cloud, a sunrise, a sunset, the colors of a rainbow. These are simple, yet exquisite, reminders of some of God's gifts and life's abundant blessings.

Thanksgiving Day is a wonderful day of celebration, but we don't need to wait for a special day to give thanks. Gratitude is a way of life, a commitment. It is a profound expression of love and faith. Gratitude enables us to find the good in our lives, to recognize and appreciate our blessings, to focus our attention on everything we have, and to hope for blessings still to come..

Sometimes we have a tendency to live in the past or look ahead to the future. We find ourselves thinking about what happened yesterday, or what might happen tomorrow.

Instead, we should take the time to savor each moment, rather than becoming caught up in the past or worrying about what will happen in the future.

There is no doubt that living through a pandemic is challenging. But we need to remind ourselves that life will eventually return to normal or the next new normal.

It may not be easy to feel grateful if you are missing family and friends or have lost a job or a loved one.

Grateful people have the ability to feel thankful regardless of circumstances. It is more than a reaction to a particular outcome - to feeling good after something positive happens.

The world around us can be challenging, stressful and overwhelming, and change will remain a constant in our lives. However, being thankful is especially important in the midst of a pandemic like COVID-19. Gratitude has the power to energize, to heal and to bring hope.

When we are thankful, we experience feelings of kindness, warmth, and generosity rather than envy, regret, and depression, which can destroy our happiness. It is important to remember that gratitude is a choice, not an emotion. Gratitude leads to joy.

D. L. Moody, a 19th century evangelist and publisher, observed that while circumstances can mar happiness, "joy flows right on through trouble; joy flows on through the dark; joy flows in the night as well as in the day; joy flows all through persecution and opposition."

This Thanksgiving, let us remember how special, beautiful, and blessed our lives are even when we are faced with situations that are uncertain or unpredictable.

Let us be grateful and let us find joy.

Have a Blessed and Happy Thanksgiving.

HAPPY Thanksgiving

*Thanksgiving, a Time to Pause and be Thankful for all That we Have.
Wishing You and Your family a
Happy Thanksgiving*

Second Annual Letters to Santa

Candleman Creations & Blue Flame Events have teamed up to bring Slate Belt families the 2nd annual letters to Santa!

From until December 5th you can deliver your hand written letters to Santa's magic mailbox at 146 S 9th St, Bangor, PA 18013. In order to receive a handwritten letter from Santa the letter must be delivered and dropped off in Santa's magic mailbox. Santa will not reply to letters sent via USPS. They must be hand delivered to the magic mailbox. All letters need to have a return address in order to receive a response.

The good girls and boys will receive letters from Santa before December 23rd. Santa's elves will not be able to provide a status on the letter because they will be too busy making all the toys.

*Thanksgiving is a joyous invitation to shower
the world with love and gratitude.*
