1885 Club Accepting Nominations

The Bangor Area High School Alumni Association is looking for nominations for induction into the 2019 "1885 Club Hall of Fame." In 1998, the members of the Bangor Area High School Alumni Association began to search for a way to honor graduates who have distinguished themselves through public service, scholarship, and recognition in their chosen fields of work. Discussions naturally led to creating a Hall of Fame for such individuals. Concerned about possible confusion with the Athletic Hall of Fame, however, the committee began to seek ways to create a different type of recognition with its own unique distinction. From this collaboration, "The 1885 Club" was born. Named in honor of the first year in which a class of students graduated from Bangor High School, this exclusive club honors distinguished alumni and holds these individuals as outstanding examples for others to follow. Through the creation of "The 1885 Club" the Alumni Association underscores and upholds the fact that graduates of Bangor Area High School have been making tremendous contributions to mankind for more than 133 years. We reserve a special category for educators and administrators who have served the Bangor Area School District over its long history.

To nominate someone for either of these awards, please go to the Bangor Area School District web site, bangorslaters.com, click on the Alumni icon (under Quick Links) and then click on the 1885 Club. There you will find a printable form. The form must be filled out completely for your nominee to be considered. Mail the completed form to the address shown or forward it to Carole J. Hontz at Bangor Area High School, 187 Five Points Richmond Road, Bangor, PA 18013-5224. Nominations can also be e mailed to hontzc@bangorsd.org

Holy Family School welcomes 23 into NJHS

Holy Family School students, staff, family and friends welcomed 23 students in the seventh and eighth grades into the school's first chapter of the National Junior Honor Society. The induction ceremony was held on Dec. 18 in the gymnasium.

The new NJHS members include from the eighth grade: Vanessaamrick, Celine Bassil, Nick Dang, Clare Duffy, Sophia Hahn, Maxwell Kochenash, Cara Magliochetti, Graceann Mattair, Collin McCallister, Emily Pezzuto, amber Unger and Noah Zacharia. From the seventh grade, the members include: Jackson Bruce, Gianna Caiazzo, Jacob Cardozza, Claire Daukshus, Elizabeth Ecker, Claire Martocci, Brittany Nestor, Emily Olsen, Preston Santos, Nathan Thomas and Charlie Wyke.

"I am beyond proud that Emily has been chosen to be a part of the National Junior Honor Society," said Melanie Olsen, whose daughter became a new member of the society.

In order to be inducted into NJHS, students had to achieve a cumulative grade point average of 90 percent or higher for two consecutive trimesters, as well as an "S" or higher in all minor subjects. The students must also maintain a clean discipline record. Membership in other activities is encouraged. Nearly half of our seventh and eighth grade student body fulfilled these strict requirements.

"Emily puts in many hours of study and preparation so that she can achieve academic excellence. In addition to her schoolwork, she is involved in many extracurricular activities and community projects," Olsen said. "Emily is a determined young lady. She sets goals for herself and works hard to achieve greatness. When I became aware that a chapter of the National Junior Honor Society would be started at Holy Family School, I had no doubts that Emily would be asked to join. Emily is an amazing young lady who is truly deserving of every success she achieves."

"When Mrs. Bruce informed all the students that they qualified for the National Junior Honor Society, I was thrilled to be a part of the group. I couldn't wait to get home and tell my family the good news," Emily said. "I work extremely hard and volunteer a lot of my spare time to help my school and community. I enjoy giving back and using my talents to inspire and help others."

Each inductee was presented with a certificate by Mrs. Christine Bruce, the school principal.

Heavilon said the group will meet monthly. Each member has to complete 10 individual service hours each year, and the group will take on a service project. And some of the members of the society will help their fellow students by tutoring them.

As an advisor for an NJHS at her previous school, Heavilon said her students were able to "take on roles that they otherwise wouldn't be exposed to." This is why she wanted to pursue bringing NJHS to Holy Family School.

"The National Junior Honor Society is a prestigious program designed to honor students that demonstrate excellence academically, as well as in the areas of leadership and service," Melanie Olsen said. "The National Junior Honor Society showcases a students' character and citizenship. A well-rounded student can not only perform well in the classroom, but also can be an example for others and give back to the community."

Bangor Womens Club GFWC Announces 2019 HOBY Scholarship Recipient

The Bangor Womens Club GFWC is pleased to announce that Alexandria Carson a Sophomore at Bangor Area High School has been selected to represent our club at the 2019 Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership Seminar (HOBY) this Spring. Alexandria, or just Alex for short, grew up in Bangor, raised by her wonderful parents, Tara and John Carson.

Alexandria Carson

Athletics and academics seem to consume her life in its entirety at most times; as a tournament level softball player, carrying an all honors schedule, holding a position as Sophomore class Vice President and serving as a delegate on the Girl Scout Board of Directors. In a house with her sister who is equally as involved in sports and other outside activities, she always seems to be out and about. Growing up, she loved being the one to lead. While other kids may have gotten nervous about speaking in public, or taking charge in a group, she always seemed to rise to the occasion being that bossy little girl who always needed to put in her two-cents regardless of the situation. Gaining more experience, she learned to become more of a leader as opposed to being the alpha. Photography and big dreams of marine mammal veterinary sciences are all muddled into this young lady. Alex is grateful to those who supported her giving her the opportunity to represent her school and community at the HOBY Leadership conference.

The Bangor Womens Club GFWC offers many leadership activities for club women. HOBY seminars are one of the opportunities that the club fundraising activities sponsor. The HOBY seminar purpose is to teach youth how to think not what to think while interacting with other youth from our region.

Greater Valley YMCA Offers Free Membership to Furloughed Federal Employees

As the federal government shutdown continues, the Greater Valley YMCA is extending support to those community members impacted by this time of uncertainty. The branches of the Greater Valley YMCA offering relief to those affected are located in Allentown, Bethlehem, Easton/Phillipsburg, Nazareth, Suburban North, and Slate Belt.

Any furloughed federal government employee who is not currently being paid due to the shutdown is welcome to use the YMCA's facilities through a free one-month membership. If an individual is already a member of the Greater Valley YMCA, their next monthly YMCA membership fee will be waived.

"This is about helping our community in this difficult time," said David Fagerstrom, President and CEO of the Greater Valley YMCA. "At the Y, we work to strengthen the foundations of our community. When we see an area in our community where help is needed, we respond. We hope that those impacted by the government shutdown will take advantage of the mental, physical and emotional support we aim to give those in need," Fagerstrom added.

The YMCA's support of our community extends beyond the government shutdown, as the Y has always focused on social responsibility. The Y currently provides financial assistance to those in need to ensure everyone has access to the YMCA's facilities and program offerings, and provided over one million dollars in subsidy/scholarships to the Lehigh Valley in 2018.

Those community members impacted by the shutdown simply need to visit the member services desk at their local YMCA branch with their government-issued ID and furlough letter to take advantage of this benefit. Branch locations can be found at gv-ymvca.org.

Bangor Family Farm Receives First PA Leopold Conservation Award

By Sarah Janelle Loren

Harvest Home Meats, a Bangor farm owned by Richard “Rich” DiFebo and his son Dohl, has been selected as the first recipient of the Pennsylvania Leopold Conservation Award. PA Senator Mario Scavella presented the award on January 11th at the 2019 Farm Show in Harrisburg.

“It was a great honor to find out we were being recognized for our conservation practices and all our hard work we’ve been practicing to preserve the land,” Dohl said.

Sand County Foundation created the Leopold Conservation Award to inspire American landowners by recognizing exceptional farmers, ranchers and foresters. The prestigious award, named in honor of renowned conservationist Aldo Leopold, is given in 14 states.

Rich and Dohl, along with Rich’s wife Lynn and their son Dane, were presented with a $10,000 award and a crystal depicting Leopold. The award is presented in PA by Heinz Endowments, PA Farm Bureau and Sand County Foundation.

In his acceptance speech, Rich said, “I am sure that there are many farmers in Pennsylvania practicing good land stewardship deserving of this award, and maybe there are times when you feel, as I have felt, ‘Is anyone taking notice of these land stewardship practices and [realizing] how they benefit our communities?’ I encourage these farmers to continue their good work. Let this be a reminder that deep down, there are people taking notice.”

The roots of Harvest Home Meats trace back to when Elton Ott purchased 100 acres of land in 1930. Rich, an ancestor of the Otts, initially saw the former dairy farm as a hobby in the 1990s. However, he knew that if the family farm was to be passed down to his children someday, it was up to him to implement sustainable conservation practices that would benefit its soil and water.

Rich’s career in the lawn care business had equipped him with an extensive knowledge of grasses and soil. While researching the health benefits of grass-fed beef, he also realized specializing in a niche market would fetch premium prices. Done right, grazing beef cattle would also restore the farm’s soil.

Highly-erodible, conventional corn and soybean fields were planted with permanent grasses to provide pasture and reduce erosion. Rich had the streams and ponds fenced off so cattle would not erode the banks. Over time, 175 acres were divided into 70 grazing paddocks. A rotation system would allow for long rest periods between each grazing. Another 130 acres grow hay, and 30 acres grow non-traditional, diverse forages like sorghum, oats and crimson clover.

After graduating from college, Dohl returned to the farm as a partner. Together, Rich and Dohl established a diverse cropping system with cover crops. Contour strips and grass waterways were installed, and a desolate shale pit was reclaimed so it could support plant growth and eventually be pastured.

Introducing diverse vegetation, rotational grazing and less soil compaction improved the soil’s biology and its ability to absorb water. The rejuvenated land could support more cattle without negative environmental impacts.

The USDA’s Natural Resources Conservation Service assisted with improved fencing and farm lanes. The Department of Energy provided funding for a solar-powered watering system. Preventing cattle from walking to a centralized water tank ensured even distribution of nutrients on the land.

“We find the approach we take [in farming] provides a wholesome product for our consumers and, at the same time, protect our natural resources on the farm for future generations,” Dohl said.

After accepting help for conservation projects on his farm, Rich collaborated with the Bangor Area School District and the Martins-Jacoby Watershed Association to share his knowledge with others. He convinced the school district to transform an abandoned tree farm into pasture, which is now the Ott Environmental Learning Center, also known as “Slater Acres.” The center features an outdoor classroom that promotes the benefits of grazing and other conservation practices.

Shane Reimer and Them Spicy Boize

by Nick Pulsinelli

It's hard to go to any bar, brewery or social hangout that holds live music that doesn't know who Shane Reimer is. Between Moon Dogs, Public Displays of Rejection and his own solo material, this Bangor native gained the reputation of being an exceptional guitarist and supportive musician to all those he meets. His eclectic taste in music began early on when Shane first began learning how to play guitar. As time went on, Shane's diverse taste led him to learning as many styles as possible and blending them all into his own style. Throughout the EP, the melodic solos and upbeat rhythms blend modern alternative rock with blues capture all the emotions and perfectly accents the lyrics. With a solid foundation in sound engineering and music production, it was merely a matter of time before Shane released his first solo EP. On Saturday January 5th, friends and family filled Pearly Bakers in Easton for the EP release party. With many of his friends' groups kicking off the evening, the crowd grew more excited with each passing hour waiting to hear Shane and Them Spicy Boize play their first live show featuring all of the new songs with both special guests. With Shane leading the trio, he was joined by bassist Wayne Lynch and drummer Aaron Hammerstone. The EP starts off strong with "Late", a track with catchy lyrics, driving beat and notable guitar riffs. "Summer's Gone" relives the past of high school days where the summer comes to end with memorable lyrics and a punk rock under tone that helps capture the rebellious youth. Vocalist Lisa Manno joins Shane and Them Spicy Boize on "The Problem", a sweet sounding ballad about the hardships we all face with relationships. The meaningful lyrics combined with the tight musical backings of the band makes this a well written song. Barry Bee on saxophone joins Shane and his crew for the finale of the EP, "Out of Breath". Combining the upbeat feel of bass and sax with the tight rhythms of the drummers and guitar, "Out of Breath" certainly holds up to its name. Better Late than Never made it worth the wait. Shane will be playing his new music throughout the Lehigh Valley over the next few months catch him on January 25th at Strange Brew Tavern at 9pm, January 26th at Weyerbacher from 5-7pm and February 9th with Doyle and the Dudes at the Fun House. Shane would like to extend his thanks to Scott Bradoka at Bang Palace Studios, Nicholas Douklias, Barry Bee and Lisa Manno for their work on the album, his family and friends and all of those who helped along the way. A very special thanks to Samantha, Wayne and Tara, Aaron and Katie and to everyone who came out to support the release.

The Whitening

by Robert Martin

Mother Nature of assorted colors,
Of green and brown and tinted others,
Through seasons of joy and of lament,
She whitens them all which heaven sent,
Softly to the ground with the swirling wind,
Snowflakes assemble whence they begin.
An ode to the whiteness that gathers about,
A joyful exuberance with a silent shout,
From poets and lovers of nature's charm,
An enchanted spinning of an ancient yarn,
Winters arrive as they have always done,
Whitening the hills that glisten in the sun.
Mother Nature, the painter above all others.
